Good Morning UEN Superintendents,
Thanks so much for your participation in the transportation survey. Your feedback was invaluable as we took our board through a transportation/bussing work session last evening.

It appears that we are one of the few Iowa districts who still outsource our bussing. Our research indicates that in-house bussing is much more cost effective than outsourcing. However, the challenges are the massive up front costs and organizational overhaul it would take to bring bussing in house.

Here are the results of the survey. Even if you bus in-house, it may interest you to look at numbers of buses per district, percent of students who ride the bus, transportation budgets per student, etc.

Hope this helps - thanks!!

The Waterloo Schools are currently gathering feedback from other districts regarding transportation and bussing, particularly in light of significant increases in transportation costs. As a result, we are considering the possibility of transitioning from outsourced bussing with First Student to an in-house solution.

To assist us in making an informed decision, we would greatly appreciate it if you, your CFO, or your Director of Transportation could take a few minutes to complete a brief survey. The survey should take approximately 10 minutes to complete.

We will share the results with you once the survey is concluded. Your input would be incredibly valuable to us. Thanks!

Thanks. Davenport has a similar report that they commissioned someone to develop for them. I believe it concluded the costs were similar outside of the upfront costs to buy the buses. I can get my hands on that as well.

Hey Matt,
Great question.

Take a look below. These are the numbers our HR and CFO ran for me. They expect the yearly costs to be roughly $4M in Staffing and $700k in operations costs for a combined $4.7M. Right now, our transportation costs are around $7.7M for a difference of $3M.

Even if the difference is closer to $1M - $2M we are seeing some large cost savings.

The data in the UEN feedback was also eye opening. I don't know how accurate all of those budgets were, but our costs were 2nd highest per student transported. It was eye opening to see how light some other districts' in-house bussing budgets were.

We've talked with CESO about doing an audit for us, but I'm not sure our board wants to pay for it (about $20k for the full project). I know TJ at Davenport also has good info as they went through an audit a couple years back.

I hope this helps!
